

AspIT

Cooperation with the Parents

Bodil Hylleberg
Project manager

Parents issue

- Birth of a normal child
- Lack of parenting skills
- What came first the chicken or the egg
- Late diagnosed
- New meaning
- Child sitting between two chairs

Parents fights

- To be understood as a normal parent, with respect and integrity
- To obtain the best opportunities for their child
- To preserve marriage and other siblings right to attention
- To have the energy to bring up a different child

AspIT and the Parents

- To listen to both the youngster and the parent but to let the youngster decide
- To help the parent to cooperate with the municipality
- To give the parents new energy to support their child in education
- To cut the umbilical cord, breaking Symbiosis, but preserve the close relationship

'Offer me, in fairness, to meet me where I'm at, in recognition that we're equally strange to one another.
My behaviour is not merely a bad copy of you.
Be inquisitive as to my and your assumptions and intentions.
Collaborate with me in an attempt to build more bridges between us.'

Jim Sinclair